*H*istory

The company was started by Eva, mother of two small children during her maternity leave from work as a web-designer. "It provoked me that it was difficult to find clothes for children that are both ecological and at the same time rough and personal.

Since I have always worked on designs in different shapes and have drawn, painted and designed things as a hobby, it struck me -Why not do it myself? It is really just another way to express oneself - through clothes instead of through the computer or the canvas.

Music has also been a common theme in my life. As a rock musician and bassist in the band Rebels I have been surrounded by creativity, attitude and commitment. I want my collection to express the same feeling and attitude.

My children are my biggest inspiration.

DYNO is named after my two boys; Dylan and Norton.
